

Review of: "Sectoral Herding Contagion on Eve of New Year"

Anam Fazal¹

¹ Lahore Garrison University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The flow of article on said-topic is quite good. Some of the suggestions for the improvement of this manuscript is as follows:

1. Policy and practical implications should be improved. It means there must be sound recommendations especially for post COVID era. As the study highlights the missing period of COVID-19, it is a general assumption of reader that the research will surely provide some solution or guideline for post COVID-19 era.
2. Name of the software used for analysis is missing.
3. There are some sentence structure mistakes.
4. There is no theoretical contribution of the paper. It is not providing any theory which is accepted, rejected or extended as a result of this research. Theoretical contribution is an important element of research.