The issue is interesting but the article has many flaws

1. Abstract section is unclear. The authors must give focus on: What is the study all about? Why is the study important? How did you conduct the study? What is the result? How is the study helping the decision makers?
2. The entire article suffers from connectivity and flow issues. Paragraphs are tad disjoint
3. Why have the authors undertaken this work? How is it filling the gaps in the literature?
4. It seems over emphasis is given on pictorial representation. Rather focus may be given on a short summary.
5. How have the authors developed the questionnaire? How does the sample size justified?
6. From regression analysis it is seen that R square is very very low. It needs adequate care to explain. In fact with such a low R square how can you draw the conclusion. In fact I request you to check your data. It seems anomaly this there
7. The residual analysis is missing
8. Kindly draw some social and technical implications
