

Review of: "Continuum Models and Singularities for Heat Distributions From Light"

Roberto Palma Guerrero<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidad de Granada

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In my view, while the title holds great promise for contemporary applications like heat absorption through solar nano-fluids, the article falls short in its explanations, lacking depth. Furthermore, the quality of the figures is subpar, and numerous abbreviations such as EM, FEM, aka, etc., remain undefined, detracting from clarity.