

Review of: "Online learning during the COVID-19 pandemic, lessons learned and what's next?"

William, Wei Xu¹

¹ City University of Macau

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The study is up-to-date, has valuable implications for practical tertiary education, and has a high level of writing quality. However, the content seems inadequate for such a broad subject matter. It is also important to note that the limitations of this study were not adequately addressed.