

Review of: "Sectoral GDP and Tax Revenue: a Panel Data Analysis"

Sara Altalafha

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

the paper is still raw. The Author needs to have a section to incorporate literature review, which will be his/her starting point. accordingly, the author needs to control for the main determinants of tax revenue, before jumping into conclusions. Another essential point, the author mentioned in the data and model section “the ... analysis used is either province or regional tax office...”, I would recommend the author to use either one of them , it can not be both. incorporating both, create noise, adversely affecting the results. Also, there is a scaling problem, i would recommend to take the natural logarithm of both the independent and dependent variables , so the results will be meaningful.