Hello,

First of all, I am so happy I read your article—congratulations! It is good and well done.

I suggest some reviews such as: you wrote in the introduction, "the latest data," but it is necessary to inform the year. Which year of the data? Your central theme is "during remote teaching," i.e., during the pandemic, but all schools (not online schools) returned to face-to-face. I suggest you supplement your article with an analysis of what happened after returning to remote teaching too; you will have two interesting points of view.

But I liked your results.

Congrats!
