

Review of: "Geopolitical constructs of international politics - their cultural & ideological roots"

Sujit Lahiry<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Panjab University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Badrun Amershi's article, 'Geopolitical Constructs of International Politics: their cultural and ideological roots' makes a very interesting reading. The author traces the genealogy of International Politics by using a historical perspective right since the Westphalian Peace Treaty of 1648. The author also uses a Comparative Analysis of the cultural and ideological roots of International Politics with the contemporary perspectives on world order- the latest being the Russian Ukraine War. The author in this article had used exceptional Analysis to put forth his views. I strongly support Badrun Amershi's article for publication in Your Esteemed Journal, Qeios.

With regards,

Dr. Sujit Lahiry.

Professor of Political Science.

Panjab University Regional Centre.

Sri Muktsar Sahib-152026.

Punjab.

India.