

Review of: "The Nexus between corporate social responsibility and corporate social performance in the Service-Based Enterprises Sector: Insights from Zimbabwe"

Dionicio Ripoll Concepción

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I think it is an excellent research work with good methodological alignment and good empirical data as a result of PLS 4.0, which contributes to the scientific literature around CSR. Although it is true that compliance with CSR helps the competitiveness of companies, it is no less true that it must have an introspective into the organization that allows this social performance to be potentiated in two aspects: inside and outside. the organization, this is why we consider that they should address the concept of internal social responsibility (ISR). On the other hand, it is important to highlight local and international government legislation and policies regarding environmental sustainability, within the framework of the Sustainable Development Goals 2030 (SDG 2030).