

Review of: "Time evolution and convergence of simple migration models"

Paolo Lauriola

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

As previously stated, it is important to note that I do not possess modeling expertise. It is imperative that researchers highlight the practical applications of their research, specifically to policymakers and lay readers. As such, I recommend that the final sentence of your research emphasizes the practical benefits that can be derived from it.