Dear editor,

Thanks for allowing me to review this updated Italian Position Paper (SIPMO-SICMF) on Medication-Related Osteonecrosis of the Jaw (MRONJ).

I think it's the article is the most comprehensively written work I've ever read on MRONJ. One thing I particularly appreciated was the grading of Individual risk assessment, resulting prevention strategies and dental treatment options. I would like to make two suggestions. First, highlight the practical behaviour to be followed in the case of patients who has to start a treatment or already being treated with antiresorptive drugs. Secondly, greater visibility to non-surgical treatment protocol of MRONJ, particularly latest findings of the photobiomodulation.

I wish there will be an international update with the joint meeting of American, European and Asian associations...
