

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Congenital absence of thigh and lower leg with foot present

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Congenital absence of thigh and lower leg with foot present. ORPHA:294977

Congenital absence of thigh and lower leg with foot present is a rare, non-syndromic, intercalary limb reduction defect characterized by unilateral or bilateral absence of femoral and tibio-fibular components, with the presence of intact foot elements.