

Review of: "Public Speaking Training Plan for Mitigating Oral Communication Apprehension"

Farous Izwan Abdul Aziz¹

¹ Universiti Malaysia Sabah

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

A very well-written article, which makes me confident that it can be published. However, you may consider writing a follow-up which shows the results of the training programme. Additionally, you should consider updating some of your older citations as I saw some as old as from the 70's. I think a paper is stronger if it contains fewer citations from decades ago and uses references that are more recent (3-years old). I also saw in this section, "Elements of Experiential Learning in the Public Speaking Training Plan", that there were few citations. You may need to fix that as well. Overall, though, a good paper which could use some improvement.