

Review of: "A Study on Consumers' Perception of Food Delivery Platforms"

Soodabeh Radfard¹

¹ University of Tehran

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear author,

You have chosen a good topic that is needed by today's society, and you have analyzed it simply and easily, and you have avoided strange statistical methods that are trending in research these days, and this practicality and simplicity made me give a high score, but the points The following can be modified in the future:

- 1- The abstract should be in one paragraph. The research method and results and most importantly the problem should be mentioned in the abstract in addition to the other things you mentioned.
- 2- Explain the "problem" well. I myself did not understand what was the problem that caused this research to be done exactly. Have sales decreased? Has the sale of platforms decreased or was the expectation higher because of Covid19?
- 3- The validity and reliability of the questionnaire is important.

I hope the above information is useful for you.

Good luck!