

Review of: "Ecotheology: missiological perspective in awareness"

David Ming

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article has described the reality of the research topic Ecotheology:missiological perspective in awareness. However, there are still several sections that need to be reviewed contextually and holistically by the authors, as follows:

What is ecotheological?

2. What is the Christian perspective on the environment?

3. What is the Christian responsibility towards environmental conservation?

4. What is the Christian view on environmental ethics?

5. What does the Christian theological tradition have to say about care for the environment according to ecotheological:missiological in awareness?

6. How Ecotheology has the relationship between religion and nature?

7. How missiological perspectives in ecotheological focuses on?

8. How to addressing ecological challenges and injustice from a Christian perspectives?

9. How does ecotheology relate to missiology

10.What are the benefits of ecotheology in awareness