The title should change to; The Impact of Urban design on women"s fear of crime

Let the result show if the design minimizes fer of crime or not by women.

The statement of problem should be improved. We need to see the problems clearly.

The location of the study should be part of the title.

The methodology should justify the choice of cities. Why did you select those cities and left others.

Your result needs to display a demographic table of your respondents showing age, educational level, marital status.

You can test age of these demographic features against fear of crime.

There was no rubust discussion of findings.

There was no recommendations.
