

Review of: "A Conceptual Review of Discontinuity in Urban Design: The Morphological and Ethical Dimensions"

Hung-Wen Chang

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1.Regarding urban discontinuity, the author discusses very clear boundaries and oppositions, but this is contrary to the concept of urban planning. In this regard, in the introduction of the article, it is recommended to explain the argument or intended purpose of this paper.

2.How helpful the discontinuity of Arab Islam is to current urban governance or cultural presentation can be explained in the 4.2 section.

3.If the conclusion chapter in this article echoes the literature review or the views of other scholars, it should be relevant or academically clarified to make some definition clearly .
