In my opinion, this ms needs major revision. The abstract is too long and confusing. I suggest removing the paragraph on frequency of occurrence. The introduction had too much unnecessary information and many mistakes. All scientific names should be italicized. The results text is the same as that presented in the tables. Results and discussion are repeated. There should be references to the tables in the text. Add latitude and longitude to the figure. Several references are not cited in the text. I recommended that the authors accept the reviewers' suggestions for publication.
