Dear Editor,

The material is interesting and can undoubtedly find a place as a publication in the scientific press. However at this moment the proposed article lacks the structure of a scientific report.

The abstract does not follow the accepted description of the study.

The text lacks the description of the goals and tasks of the scientific research to achieve the goal, the selection of research material and methods, results, etc.

References are presented quite diversely in bibliographic style.

I believe that this manuscript should be substantially revised and I recommend that it be prepared as "Letters to the Editor".
