I have reviewed the paper and find it very interesting and insightful with very clear conclusions and recommendation. However, the author may consider the following;

- (a) The abstract should ideally also contain a summary of the findings and their respective significance levels.
- (b) The draft seems to be using data whose most current date appears to be 2019. This may account for the paper referring to 2020 figures as projections. For example paragraph 3 of the introduction gives 2020 as a projection. I recommend that the author(s) consider updating their respective data to 2022.
