I read your paper and noticed four elements that need modifications:

1. Keywords: Do not use a period after the last keyword.
2. Parenthetical citations: Cite multiple works in alphabetical order (e.g., Reisbig et al., 2017; Uccheddu et al., 2019, not Uccheddu et al., 2019; Reisbig et al., 2017/)
3. Study details (see the table): When citing a work with three or more authors, only cite the surname of the first author followed by 'et al.' (e.g., Wong et al., 2017, not Wong PWC, Lau KCT, Liu LL, Yuen GSN, Wing-Lok P, 2017)
4. Referencing: According to APA style, references should not be initiated with bullet points. Simply organize them in alphabetical order, as you have done.
