

Review of: "Understanding Creativity"

Paulo Carvalho¹

¹ Universidade de Coimbra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Philip:

It was a great pleasure to read your paper, and congratulations on your work.

The focus of this article is an important and complex thematic of investigation: creativity.

Here are some suggestions to make your work even more interesting: Perhaps it is important to deepen the state of the art of the last decade in the sense that it can bring new elements to reflection and help identify clues for future research on the subject; similarly, it would be important to add one final point (conclusion) to the text, with a synthesis of the main ideas, the limitations of the study, and clues for future investigations.

I renew my thanks for the opportunity to read your work and hope that you can continue to research and publish works like this.

Best regards,