

Review of: "Assessing the Impact of COVID-19 on Food Consumption Preferences"

Anastasiia Simakhova¹

¹ National Aviation University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is prepared on important topic related to changes in food consumption as a result of the Covid-19 pandemic using a specific example with a population survey.

I propose to take into account in the research and reveal the following points:

1. How did the consumption of food products change in those who were ill with Covid-19.
2. How the change in the consumption of specific food products affected the subsequent incidence of Covid-19.