

Review of: "Prevalence and Determinants of Hypertension Among Adults in Urban Bonaberi District of Douala, Cameroon"

Prakash Patel

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The study lacks novelty. There is nothing new in the study. All the factors mentioned in the study are very well studied across the whole world and in all populations. So, I think this study doesn't provide any new information. I would not recommend publishing this manuscript.