Dear author,

I appreciate the work done to write this paper. Although it is structured similarly to a scientific work, the minimum acceptance requirements are not respected and it must be substantially improved. The work includes more the account of the intervention on a single medical case, than a thorough analysis based on medical data, carried out on a group of subjects. Even for the patient presented in the paper, the clinical data are presented briefly and do not scientifically justify the conclusions presented. The work can be considered to be the summary report of a medical case, but not a top scientific work.

Best regards!
