

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Progressive sensorineural hearing loss-hypertrophic cardiomyopathy syndrome

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Progressive sensorineural hearing loss-hypertrophic cardiomyopathy syndrome.

ORPHA:228012

Progressive sensorineural hearing loss - hypertrophic cardiomyopathy is an extremely rare disorder described in one family to date that is characterized by progressive, late onset, autosomal dominant sensorineural hearing loss, QT interval prolongation, and mild cardiac hypertrophy.