The article offers a very clear summary of the Catholic perspective with respect to the ecological problem. The manuscript cites very important documents and provides an historical perspective that is useful for the readers. In case the author wants to publish in a journal (as an article, instead as a chapter), it would be important to clarify much more the research question that is trying to solve with the arguments, so that the signification of the article becomes clearer. In addition, it would be useful for adding value to stress the contributions that the paper does with respect to previous literature.
