In this study, the author analyzed the impacts of various environmental factors on public and private health expenditures. It is interesting and practical. While there are some suggestions.

1. The organization of the abstract is not clear.
2. The introduction of existing research work is still not clear, literature review is not systematic.
3. The contributions of this work are not emphasized clearly. What is the advantage and disadvantage of the existing works? Compared with them, what are the main innovations in the paper?
