

Review of: "Longevity of Electric Vehicle Operations"

Anton Rassõlkin<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Tallinn University of Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is well written on the topic of Electrical Vehicles (EVs). However, there is no novelty in this work, there is no future trends analyzed. Same work might be done 10 or even 15 years ago.

Every section starts from the contribution of the section, that is already given in introduction.

I would recommend to put more attention on technical trends and provide more deep analysis of the discussed topics. Right now this is just a short summary on very low level focused on the target group that never heard about EVs.