

Review of: "A Review of the Drawdown Zone in African Reservoirs: Current Knowledge, Understudied Areas and Recommendations for Future Research"

Marina Satika Suzuki¹

¹ Universidade Estadual do Norte Fluminense

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The MS presents a research review of the ecology and anthropogenic effects on the drawdown zones in African water bodies. The author focused the title on reservoirs, but there are many discussions of other types of water bodies. The abstract section is too long, and the Introduction repeats the information presented in the abstract. A review is needed. Results and Discussion should be separate, and the Discussion should focus on the findings.