The research presents the necessary elements for a review. It presents a great relevance in its theme and a necessity in the field of education. The research is adequately contextualized and problematized, arguments are presented for its justification. The objective is clear and timely. The literature is current and adequate. It is recommended to prepare a section on the research methodology used for the review, where the number of articles and the inclusion and exclusion criteria used are established. In the same way, an extension of the conclusion is suggested, since the investigation is very relevant and the conclusions lack an argument according to all the development of it.
