

Review of: "A Phenomenological Study of the Lived Experiences of Counseling Students in a Co-Facilitated Experiential Group"

Farhana Sabri<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universiti Sains Islam Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The literature review is appropriately tied to the core idea of the research. The research demonstrates originality as not many studies in the area involve co-facilitated experiential groups in counseling education programs.

The results were analyzed and discussed comprehensively and adequately tied together with other points of the paper.