

Open Peer Review on Qeios

DL-Proline

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. DL-Proline. NCI Thesaurus. Code C61732.

A racemic mixture of proline, an imino acid. Proline is found in cartilage and is important for maintaining youthful skin as well as repair of muscle, connective tissue and skin damage. It is also essential for the immune system and an essential component of collagen and is important for proper functioning of joints and tendons. Proline is important for the proper functioning of joints and tendons and helps maintain and strengthen heart muscles.