

Review of: "Examining the Impact of Green Finance on Carbon Emissions in India through Energy Consumption Optimization"

Shermila Crespo<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Anna University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors delved into green technological innovation, the ecological shift in industrial structure, and the interplay between the two. Particularly in regions abundant in energy, green finance notably reduces carbon emissions across all pathways. Conversely, in energy-deficient areas, its influence primarily connects to advancing green technological innovation. This article stands as a comprehensive and insightful review of the subject matter