I found the work detailed in the developed parts. I would have preferred a better discussion of the epidemiological status of the topic and also some more information on the methods applied for identification, but I realise this may be outside the scope of the work. I would encourage the authors to edit some figures. For example, I would modify figure 4 and figure 5 by merging them into one, using a Sankey diagram, that would also allow for better representation. Figure 7 should be modified because the names of the sponsors are not read in full; I suggest the use of acronyms.
