Firstly, the topic of your work is very interesting, but I would like to make some suggestions to improve the content of the article:

- English should be improved throughout the manuscript, and grammatical errors should be corrected. For example, delete one of the "diabetes" in introduction line 2, change the sentence "But the reverse is the case for Ayurveda/ Indian system of medicine" and link it to the previous sentence.
- It is better that the manuscript be written in a more scientific manner.
- Abbreviations need to be specified at their first instance.
- Give more scientific information about the mentioned herbs, for example, structure, mode of action, appropriate dosage, and preparation methods for human consumption, etc.

Best regards
