

Review of: "Quantum Theory of Soul Sickness and Soul Healing"

Harleen Kaur

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The concept in the paper is innovative and based upon various instances/experiences of the authors driven from the practical world. However, this area is under-researched and needs due correlations with clinical evidence in terms of incidence and concept-based healing therefrom. Until such data is produced, this method of healing, though unique and inclusive, may be difficult to integrate with the standard care delivered by health professionals. Also, references may be drawn from similar linkages of health to the soul in other systems of medicine like Ayurveda and Homoeopathy, besides Chinese medicine, to strengthen the concept.