Review of: "Using Artificial Intelligence to Guide Physicians in Making Fasting Decisions for Diabetics During Ramadan"

Mudasir Kirmani[1]

1 Sher-E-Kashmir University of Agricultural Sciences and Technology

The research paper must be checked using any similarity index checking software prior to publication.

A review for grammatical and spelling errors needs to be carried out prior to publication.

A uniform pattern must be followed while writing titles of the figures and tables.

The references have not been validated. Some recent references need to be added; the author has cited very few references.

The conclusion section should also include the futuristic scope. The literature review section needs to be enhanced.