

Review of: "In-Vitro Antibacterial Activity of some Ganoderma Species: A Review"

Rengaswamy Devika¹

¹ Aarupadai Veedu Institute of Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. Authors missed to follow the botanical name representations in the title and text
2. The introduction and objectives of this review article are missing
3. Authors can redo the review critically to follow the scientific format representations throughout the article
4. The article can be segregated under subtitles and add recent articles related to microbial activity and with nanoparticles, respectively, with a few authentic data
5. There is no information about the correlation between diabetes ulcers and wound healing properties in the review
6. The review manuscript has to be critically enhanced in terms of organization, scientific representations, diabetes ulcers and wound healing information, etc., before accepting for publication