

Review of: "Human health effects of volcanic eruptions – a systematic review"

Selvia García-Mayagoitia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It's an interesting review, I just have some questions, I don't understand the relationship between digestive problems with ashes of volcanoes? Please add more information about this, because normally ashes cause respiratory problems.

Which are the heavy metals that may be present in the ashes? please include the information.

Which are the contradictory results that you observed? please be more specific.

thank you for the attention to these questions.

greetings