This study justifies the need for performance evaluations of the implementations of the SDGs in India in particular and across the globe in general. Corrective measures can also be taken to improve the performances of selected SDGs.

However, the article is bulky and requires refinement and reorganization to shape it into a standard article based on journal article guidelines.

Moreover, the abstract, Literature and Methods, and Discussions (on possible reasons attributing to variable performances of SDGs) sections need to be reorganized as per the comments indicated in the body of the manuscript.
