Introduction: Please refer the standards articles on the approach for writing a review article.

Purpose of the study: Please adopt a scientific rigour while drafting this Section as also the entire paper.

Research problem: The research objectives are not clearly drafted.

Literature review: Please redo this Section by providing a gist of your understanding of the defining frameworks of E-government. I can't understand the links between the Sections on ICT platforms, government processes, etc. vis-a-vis the e-government theme. How is the figure representative of the description provided underneath?

Discussion: This Section ought to summarize the article assertions alongside the other e-government research works, Limitations: Club Limitations and Implications in Conclusion Section. Please provide a rather deeper understanding of the research implications for academics and practitioners.

Conclusion: Please provide a gist of the research paper and provide the contribution to electronic government literature.

References: Why does this Section look dated? May I request you to add on some recent references starting 2015?
