

Review of: "Design of an intelligent controller for improving the solar system efficiency"

Radmila Koleva

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In the introduction, the authors must clarify the original contribution of the article.

The technical characteristics of the PV system are not represented (capacity etc.). Also I think that the paper will be highly rated if there was presented an experiment in laboratory or on a real PV system with the presented methods.