Followings should be noticed in the revision of the paper by the author(s):

1. Novelty of the paper is not clear; what gap was found to be addressed in this paper?
2. Optimality of the solutions is not proven
3. Mathematical formulation neither has references, nor is not proven
4. Are real-world constraints anything rather than transport inertial forces and gravity? Although the paper states these constraints, nothing more is described in the paper.
5. Reference list is outdated.
