

Review of: "Assessing the Impact of COVID-19 on Food Consumption Preferences"

Vijayalakshmi Kakulapati

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The abstract is general and needs to focus on the outcome direction .
2. Back ground of the study need to include
3. The references need to improve. many research works are there authors advised to refer more recent works.
4. need to include how the participants answer the question and what are the question posed to participants.
5. The discussion lacks analysis about the research outcome from the topic; can present a claim point to discuss the significance of the presented study
6. How the participants are identified for the survey is not clear to me.
7. data is too small. authors need to explain whether theri model is fit for large data base