

Peer Review

Review of: "Influence of Institutional Factors on Job Satisfaction among Nurses at a Regional Hospital, Ghana"

Perpetual Zaazie¹

1. Independent researcher

The title is a subject of interest. The introduction is well-written except that it has not been linked to any of the SDGs.

The problem background has to be strengthened. However, the problem statement is well outlined. Literature references should be recent, ideally within the last five years, though the literature is widely read.

Methodology and analysis are well presented.

Overall, the work is impressive except for the old referencing and a few typographical errors.

Well done to the authors.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.