The research is very topical and well written. However, some aspects need to be detailed:

1. Before describing results it is useful to state the purpose of the article clearly.
2. Methodologies need detalisation as for gender and age of the respondents.
3. As the quantity of the respondents of different age and gender is not equal, in tables 2-6 it would be more correct to show a percentage (relative to the total number of a particular age or gender) instead of quantity.
4. Discussion is very sparse. It is better to analyse additional manuscripts for comparing results.
5. Conclusion should show whether the purpose of the article is reached. It must not just repeat the material presented above.
