

Review of: "COVID-19 Crisis: Exploring Challenges, Opportunities, and Cautions"

Venkat Pulla¹

¹ James Cook University of North Queensland

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I think the authors have laboured a bit on establishing the history of pandemics and ventured to review some select literature on the subject. What cautions are they alluding to? Additionally, their previous paper, which they have quoted, unfortunately, I could not understand the purpose of.

I suggest they undertake a meta-analysis of COVID-19 papers published in the last 20 months. I suspect there would be over a thousand titles.

Even if they were to stick to their physics - I bet there would be several colloquia published.

Adjunct Associate Professor Venkat Rao Pulla, James Cook University, Australia