

Review of: "Hydroxyapatite coating techniques for Titanium Dental Implants-an overview."

Ines Fasolino<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Italian National Research Council

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

As I specified in the previous review, the authors should better underline the risk of developing local bacterial infections and inflammatory processes around the implant because these processes can inhibit the bone formation process leading to the failure of the bone implants themselves. The authors should integrate the manuscript with this information in the main text and do not mention it only in the conclusions.