Thank you for this interesting manuscript.

I have a few comments:

- The text of the manuscript and its sections are not organized in a structured way.
- Sample size is small (80) to define and give solutions for such an important issue concerning climate change.
- The author did not highlight the economic model, which can be the central core for the text?
- Words like "significant" need to be interpreted in tables, and p-value significance
- Very few references are mentioned in the text.
