

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Diagnostic Sensitivity

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Diagnostic Sensitivity. NCI Thesaurus. Code C41394.

The probability that a test will produce a true positive result when used on effected subjects as compared to a reference or "gold standard". The sensitivity of a test can be determined by calculating: number of true positive results divided by the sum of true positive results plus number of false negative results.